FCCPT NEWS

Introducing FCCPT's New Website

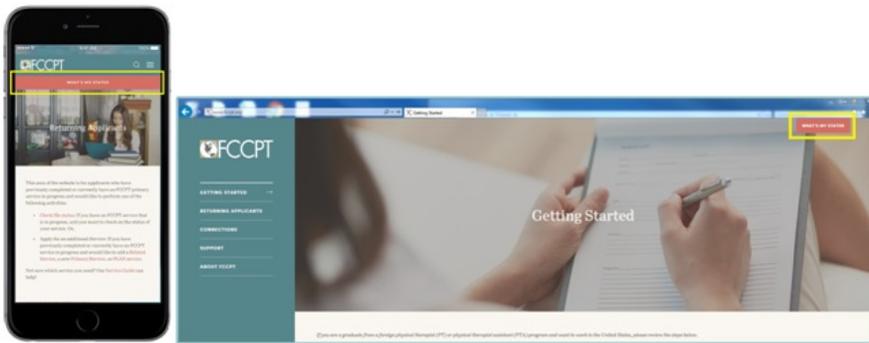

The FCCPT website has been redesigned with an updated look, improved navigation, and a search function, all of which makes it easier to find the information applicants are looking for.

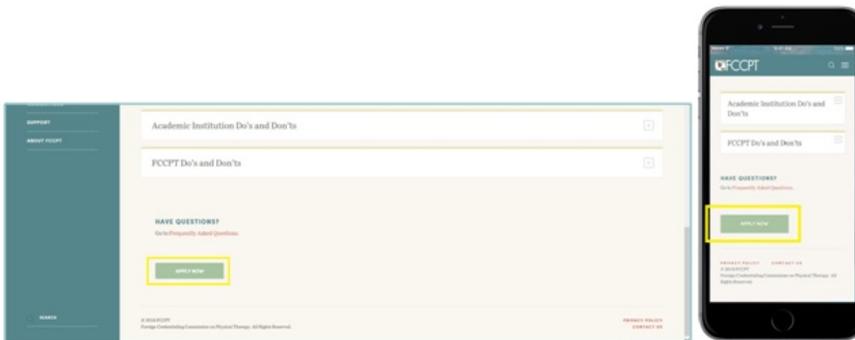

The website includes relevant information on immigration and PT licensure in the United States, and resources that support the credentials evaluation process, making it easier for applicants to better understand the wide range of services that FCCPT offers, and enabling FCCPT to better support all who rely on us for foreign credentials evaluation and PT licensure.

We have also made the website mobile-friendly, so your applicants have the same improved web experience on their computer or mobile device.

On the new website, applicants will find convenient links to access their file or apply for a new service, from each page within the website. Applicants will find "What's my Status" links at the top of every page, and "Apply Now" at the bottom of each service page.

We hope you and your applicants will find that our new site is easier to use, and provides you the answers you need. Don't forget to keep checking back in as we update the site with industry news and announcements, and other valuable information for foreign-educated physical therapists and physical therapist assistants!
